ATLANTA -- January 24, 2013—GMC TV, America's favorite channel for uplifting family entertainment, announced today that it will present the world television premiere of A Warrior's Heart, a moving dramatic feature about a hot headed lacrosse player who eventually learns the true meaning of maturity, sportsmanship and manhood. The film stars Chris Potter ("Heartland"), Ashley Greene (Twilight), Kellan Lutz (Twilight), Gabrielle Anwar ("Burn Notice") and Chord Overstreet ("Glee") and will premiere exclusively on GMC TV on Sunday, January 27th at 7, 9 and 11 p.m. ET.

A Warrior's Heart tells the story of teenager Conor Sullivan (Kellan Lutz), a gifted lacrosse player who is egocentric and thinks only of himself. His father (Chris Potter), a respected Marine-officer, gets Conor transferred into a private school with an outstanding lacrosse program. When his father is called back to serve and gets killed in Iraq, Conor, torn up after his dad's death, becomes sullen and raging angry both on and off the field. His behavior gets him kicked off the team. Enter Sgt. Major Duke Wayne (Adam Beach), a full-blooded Iroquois and former Marine comrade of his father's who happens to know a lot about lacrosse. Duke shows Conor some hard discipline, bringing out his passion for the sport and eventually helping him to work off his anger and discover the warrior within himself.

"A Warrior's Heart is a story that demonstrates the valuable lesson that we all have a little warrior spirit in us that can bring us out of our darkest hours," said Leslie Glenn Chesloff, EVP, Programming, GMC TV. "It's a dual pleasure to bring this heartwarming film to our viewers and to showcase this attractive cast in roles that are outside of their normal fare."

A Warrior's Heart is directed by Mike Sears. Written by Martin Dugard. Producers are Mark Spizzirri and Steven Istock.
